WOMEN VOTERS AS MEN'S SUBSTITUTES

Inventor of Coupon Ballot Will Introduce Bill to Allow Women to Vote When Men Cannot.
[BY UNITED PRESS.]
La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 12.—Morena Dunn, inventor of the Dunn coupon ballot, introduced a bill in the legislature authorizing women to act as substitutes for men when the latter are unable to vote. Dunn argues that many laboring men are unable to vote because it is inconvenient for them to get to the polls. He believes this will result in bringing out practically the full vote in every election.

QUESTIONS RAISED AS TO THE BRIDGES

Form in Which Proposition Was Submitted Said to Have Been Without Authority of Charter.
Last Tuesday some 1,211 (over 71 per cent) of the 1,751 citizens who registered their sentiments in the matter voted for the expenditure of not to exceed $10,000 in the construction of new bridges at Racine street and Fourth avenue, Section 8 of Chapter IV of the charter gives the common council the right to appropriate not exceeding $20,000 for the rebuilding of a bridge already in existence but in order to make the matter doubly secure it was deemed advisable to submit the Fourth avenue project to the people for a decision. And with it was coupled the Racine street proposition in a resolution said to have been framed by City Treasurer James Fathens and introduced by Alderman Sheridan and passed at a meeting held in August. To those who have been fostering a spirit of progress and endeavoring to get the community to "glance up" and "get busy," the overwhelming vote in favor of these bridges was a source of the deepest gratification. It now appears that in the published notice calling for this special election the Mayor's signature was lacking; that there is some question as to whether, under Section 25 of Chapter IV of the charter, the will of the people can be legally carried out inasmuch as the exact amount, principal and interest, to be expended for each structure was not specified; and that an objection has even been raised to the use of voting machines when the law says "separate ballots."

The more elaborate exercises are being conducted in this city, the capital, and in Valparaiso, where warships representing the navies of the United States, Great Britain and other nations are assembled to take part in the festivities. The occasion of the national rejoicing is the centennial anniversary of Chilean independence. Then it became a Spanish province and finally declared its independence of Spain in September, 1810, not actually winning it, however, until several years later.

POSTPONE SALE OF JANESVILLE STREET RAILWAY

Transaction Scheduled For This Afternoon Held Off by Agreement, Until Sept. 28.

Although the Janesville Street Railway was scheduled to be sold at a sheriff's sale this afternoon at two o'clock at court house, the transaction did not take place, an agreement being reached between the bond holders and the receivers to hold the sale over until Sept. 28. This delay was the result of the desire of the principals to have all accounts of the company in good shape before the sale was made. Recently the receivers, W. H. Lenson and William Murphy were given permission by the court to borrow $10,000 to be used in rehabilitating the system. The sum has only been partially used in the installing of new rails on 8, Main St., and the stringing of new feed wires throughout the city. Until this work is done, the receivers will not be in a position to render a full report on the condition of the system and on this account the sale was postponed.

SWEET REVENGE FOR JANESVILLE

BELOIT DEFEATED IN FIRST OF FALL SERIES, 3 TO 1.

BECKER IS HOME RUN HERO

Short Stop's Four Sacker and Burnham's Twirling Glove Local's Long Bought Victory.

"R-n-Revenge is sweet," was the burden of the refrain shouted by the devoted cohort of Janesville fans yesterday when Becker, premier short stop for the coming champs, landed flush on one of Beloit's offerings in the first inning for a grand circuit smash that not only two runs and clinched the game for Jack Ward's former champion losers. Becker's homer was practically the only redeeming feature of a game otherwise devoid of interesting features, except perhaps for Burnham's pitching. The plump twirler from Madison was in great form and had the players from Rock County's new metropolis feeling from his hand throughout the entire game. The final score was 3 to 1 with Beloit at the short end, hence the jubilation. It is the first near winter game that the locals have annexed for many moons.

It was an auspicious beginning to say the least and gave the fans a pleasurable feeling of security throughout the remaining eight innings. Before, Palmer could get his salary wing in good working order, Fulton had singled but was forced at second when Neer endeavored to sacrifice. Then Becker came to the front with a beautiful smash that sent the ball sailing over the left field fence and gave both Neer and Becker plenty of time to cross the plate. Janesville's third score came in the fifth. Carl hampered a hot bounder down the third base line and reached second when O'Leary threw over Solbra's head. Fulton then fattened his batting average by a two bagger and Carl scored, in spite of the fact that his sprinting ability was handicapped by a pair of unmentionables that needed about half a dozen tucks.

Beloit's lonely tally was manufactured in the fourth. Groh drew a base on balls and later stole a second. Solbra laid down a slow one to first and Rudolph allowed it to dribble through the fingers. Cook then singled and Groh scored. After that it was duck soup for Burnham for Beloit never even threatened after that. Palmer also tightened up after the fifth and ran his follow player from Madison an even race for the remaining four innings. Palmer's support had a slight edge on that according to Burnham but the latter was on the job every minute and won a deserved victory. The detailed score and summary follows:

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milton, Sept. 12.—The funeral services of the late Miss Alice Millar were held this afternoon at the Seventh-day Baptist church, her pastor, Rev. M. A. Drew, officiating and interment was made in the local cemetery.

Milton suffered a great loss in the passing from this life of Miss Alice Millar, on September 8, at the home of her father, Rev. W. T. Millar. For over fifteen years a valued teacher in our public school, she has left the imprint of her cheery, wholesome personality on all the younger people of the community. This was the more noticeable since her interest and efforts embraced the entire life of her pupils, moral as well as intellectual.

In many cases lovingly cooperating with the home in seeking an all-around development of the individual. Her wise counsel made her a tower of strength to the other teachers, by whom she will be greatly missed. The presence of the entire school at the funeral services pays tribute to her hold upon the affections of the school.

FIREMEN RESCUE MAN FROM DEATH BY SUFFOCATION

Opportune Arrival of Department
Saves Jack Breen From Suffocation.

Jack Breen, a boarder at the home of James Canoy, 120 Pleasant St., was rescued from death by suffocation by firemen shortly before three o'clock Sunday morning when the bed clothes in his room were fired presumably by a lighted cigar, and Breen was allowed to remain in the smoke filled room by other occupants of the house who left the place not knowing that he was there.

It is alleged that Tom Gallagher, who also rooms at the Canoy home, was intoxicated Saturday night and that his lighted cigar caused the flames. Gallagher was overcome by smoke before being dragged from the house and Breen might have succumbed had it not been for the opportune arrival of the fire department.

Breen is employed at the new Janesville Machine Company's addition.

HELP WAS DENIED IN TIME OF DANGER

ALL ON PERE MARQUETTE MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAVED, DECLARE SURVIVORS.

CAPTAIN KNEW OF PERIL?

Crew of Sister Ship Accused of Slowness and Lack of Nerve—Wreck Still a Mystery—Inquiry Soon.

Ludington, Mich., Sept. 12.—It is declared by Stanley Chubb, a porter, and Thomas Shields, a coal passer, survivors of the ill-fated Pere Marquette car ferry No. 18, that it was the sister ship when signalled every person who went to a watery grave when No. 18 sank could have been saved.

"We had the flag at half mast at daylight, so that No. 17 certainly knew we were in trouble," said Shields. "No. 17 was getting pretty close to us, and I was right alongside of Captain Kitty when he yelled to No. 17 that 18 wouldn't last long. But No. 17 didn't come alongside. No, she swung around our stern and came within 100 feet of us on the windward side. I heard Captain Walter Brown, second mate, yell to No. 17 and say: 'For God's sake, what are you doing? Why don't you get a little closer?'"

"Then No. 17 swung back and came over on the lee side of us, but just stayed away. If they had had any nerve at all they would have saved every mother's son of us. I can swear to it that No. 17 could have got us all off if they had come alongside when they first came up. But instead of that they hung off to windward."

Calls Not Heeded, Says Porter.
Stanley Chubb, a porter, said: "No. 17 came up on the port or lee side, back of the 18. She then came ahead, but instead of swinging to the lee side, all were thunderstruck to see her swing to the windward. I stood right alongside of Mate Brown when he yelled through his hands to the 17: 'For God's sake, come alongside; where are you going?'"

"Yet they yelled back, 'What's the matter?'"
"Anybody could see that we were sinking, and if No. 17 had pulled alongside when she first came up all could have been saved."

Officials Give Out Theories.
The Pere Marquette officials say that Captain Kitty did not indicate to the 17 that he feared his ship was in grave danger.

The Pere Marquette officials gave out the barest possible theories as to why No. 18 sank. They say they can prove that the pumps could have taken care of any water that might have dashed through a door light. The only other plausible theory advanced is that the water came through the crank box or from a loosened plate. "I lifted the case to the bottom," said Superintendent Trump, "but found nothing that would explain the disaster."

According to Mr. Trump there were 62 people on board steamer No. 18. The 16 above the regular crew were four employees of the Chicago Navigation company, with Seymour E. Cochran, vice-president of that company, and a corps of extra scrubbers and carpet-layers, who were working while the boat was moving in order to save time. Mr. Cochran was saved, but his four men were lost.

It is now definitely known that Ell Colburn of Saginaw, who was reported among those missing, is alive. Inquiry to Begin at Once.

KING IN QUEST OF A BRIDE

Portugal's Youthful Ruler Has Searched in Vain for Suitable Wife to Share Throne.

Young King Manuel of Portugal is looking for a suitable bride, but none of the marriageable princesses of Europe seems to be over-anxious to share his somewhat unstable throne. His failure to secure a wife during his recent tour is a source of great disappointment not only to Manuel himself but to his advisers.

Manuel is not wealthy as monarchs go. His civil list is just $1,000 a day, and it was hoped he would be able to make a match with a popular princess possessing large means in her own right. The father of one princess was strongly opposed to the alliance, not that he disliked the young Portuguese king, but because of the unsettled state of the country.

Since the assassination of the late King Carlos and his eldest son, the condition of Portugal has not improved, and there are fears that before very long serious trouble will break out. A well-known Portuguese politician, in a letter to a prominent Englishman, says that the people are intensely dissatisfied with the existing regime and the growing influence of the old clericalism at court, and if reforms are not quickly initiated and the members of the old camorra dismissed a revolution may break out at any moment.

There is, of course, the alternative of Manuel's abdication and the succession of his uncle, the Infante Alfonso, duke of Oporto, a man of forty-five.

FALLING ROCKS KILL TEN MEN

TEN WORKMEN ARE DEAD, NINE INJURED IN ERIE RAILROAD TUNNELS.

SOMEONE MADE A BLUNDER

Twenty-Eight Laborers Are Caught in Tubes Underneath Hundreds of Tons of Brick and Mortar—Nine Escape Uninjured.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 12.—By the fall of hundreds of tons of Palladium rock through the broken roof of the old Erie railroad tunnels ten workmen were crushed to death and nine others were seriously injured.

The dead and injured formed part of a gang of twenty-eight hard rock men who were removing the mountain of stone above the tunnels to transform them into open "cuts" as was recently completed on other tracks adjacent. Somebody either blundered in blasting which weakened the brick roof of the tubes, or there was an unsuspected fault in the rock.

Officials Are Sought.

The police and Prosecutor Garvan are very anxious to find A. L. Moorehead, the Erie's resident engineer in charge, and James Smith, superintendent of the particular work. Already Mr. Garvan has ordered an inquest and the police are seeking to make arrests as the law required them to do in case of such fatalities.

The Erie tunnels were driven through the solid rock of the Palladium about fifty-three years ago and rounded with five courses of heavy brick, mortared. Two months ago, after three years' hard work, the Millard Construction company completed the opening of the passenger tunnels now known as the Bergen cut. The Erie company itself concluded to open the freight tracks on its own account and placed its own engineers and workmen in charge. Mr. Moorehead had charge of the general plans and Smith was superintendent of the workmen.

Cut Through Solid Rock.

West of the Hudson boulevard viaduct there was a mass of rock to cut away about 110 feet deep down to the brick walls of the tunnels and about 125 feet long.

Working in three shifts of eight hours each, the gangs had cut down to the tunnels for a distance of more than 60 feet and they had removed all the upper rock for the whole length of the work to within 20 feet of the brick below.

Twenty-eight men were employed in cleaning up the debris left by the drilling and blasting when there came first a crushing report, then a swaying and tossing of the solid rock, a thunderous report like a park of artillery and after that there was a churning and tossing of men as first the center sank and piece by piece great chunks of rock, some weighing tons, fell from the sides, grinding and crushing as they struck.

600,000 CATHOLICS SEE PARADE.

One Hundred Thousand March With the Host at the Head.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 12.—A religious pageant as rich in devotional emotion as in sacred imagery, diverse in nationality and huge in size, closed the twenty-first International Eucharistic congress. The procession marched four miles through the streets, the host at its head, to Mount Royal, above the city. There were 100,000 in line and 600,000 viewed it. The city is so crowded that 200,000 slept on the slopes of Mount Royal, in Dominion Square and in other city parks.

The cardinal legate marched at the head of the procession, carrying the Host. Slowly and majestically, like pilgrims of the crusades, the great pageant followed. Organized choirs sang in Latin, French and English and bands played devotional music. When the crowd knew the air, it joined in with mingled languages.

The procession had been arranged to demonstrate the unity and universality of the Catholic church. It started from Notre Dame with a preliminary detachment of mounted officers, firemen and Papal Zouaves, followed by a choir of 200 male voices.

The state, the church and the army were represented; every rite had its delegation, and there were envoys from the missionary activities in foreign lands.

TWENTY-NINE LIVES LOST IN MOST MYSTERIOUS LAKE CATASTROPHE OF RECENT YEARS. Pere Marquette car ferry No. 18, which plunged to the bottom of Lake Michigan, carrying down twenty-nine officers and crew.

Ludington, Mich.—It is probable that no one will ever know the exact cause of the sinking of the Pere Marquette car ferry No. 18, which was engaged in transporting loaded freight cars from Ludington to Milwaukee, Wis., and return. Every officer on board the boat was lost as well as a number of the crew and two men from the sister ship, Pere Marquette ferry No. 17, who attempted to save the lives of their unfortunate brothers. Among the thirty-three survivors not one has been found who can give any explanation of the cause of the disaster. Those familiar with the cause, if it was known, were all below deck and went to the bottom of Lake Michigan when the boat unexpectedly lurched to one side and dropped as though the entire bottom had fallen out.

The only explanation which seems plausible is that the small windows which were left open while the boat was light were never shut and when the twenty-nine laden cars were run on to the ferry the water line was raised above these windows, allowing the water to fill the hold.

Making Land Pay.
"Intensive cultivation," so-called, has reached its highest state of perfection in the market gardens lying about Paris, where land rent runs to $250 an acre or more a year, and four crops are taken from the soil between February and November, and on the island of Guernsey, in the English channel, where farming land is valued at $1,200 an acre.

One Reason.

One reason why there is so much sadness in the world is that somewhere always it is time to get up in the morning.

Nature's Remedies.

For almost all ills, nature herself finds a cure, and these in the simplest remedies. Hot water or cold will relieve many troubles, and in the exercise of his own muscles in the massage of his body man will find a natural and effective substitute for all the liniments ever compounded.

Greatest Strength.

Do You Spend Enough For Advertising To See Any Definite Returns

Do you know what you should spend for advertising to assure your sufficient returns to justify any increase?

You can answer these questions for yourself if you will fill in the blanks. Take out your pencil and do it right now. How much do your gross sales amount to in one year?

PUT DOWN THE SUM HERE.

How much does it cost you to sell this amount? What per cent do you estimate is the selling expense?

What is your net profit?

PUT IT DOWN HERE.

Now multiply the figures representing your gross receipts by two then point off two figures with a decimal point and you have what would be considered a fair Advertising Appropriation.

$ _____ ?

PUT IT DOWN HERE.

Do You Spend That Much Money Per Year For Advertising?

You can. It's only 2%. Many merchants spend 5% in locations where competition is hot. 2% is a fair average. It's not too much. Yet it is enough to show a big increase. You don't doubt but that an amount such as your figure represents would increase your business one-fifth, making your profits one-fifth greater. These increased profits will figure just twice your advertising appropriation if you are clearing 20%. If you clear more your gain is more.

Of course, every business has its peculiarities, but our advertising department has peculiar problems of all kinds to solve every day—it can help you.

THE OUTLOOK.

The progressive landholder which is sweeping over the country is causing the business world to sit up and take notice, and efforts are being made to analyze the probable outcome. Capital is preparing to protect itself against radical legislation and in the readjustment which will follow more or less hardship will be experienced. A financial journal thus summarizes some of the changes likely to occur and issues a note of warning.

"There was a paragraph in the recent Oasawatomie speech of Mr. Roosevelt which it is worth while for business men who take a long look into the future to ponder seriously. This utterance was as follows:

"I know well that the reformers must not bring upon the people economic ruin, or the reforms will go down in ruin. But we must be ready to face temporary disaster, whether or not brought on by those who will war against us to the knife."

"These statements, although they do not cast a very rosy light upon the prospects of the next few years, convey an important admonition. It might as well be accepted by the business community that corporate enterprises will not be allowed to go on their path unhampered in the future, as they have, to a greater or less extent, in the past.

"The newspapers of a single day last week contained information that an investigation will promptly be opened of the 'foreign steamship trust' and its influence in congress in defeating subsidy legislation; that express companies 'were to be put out of business within the next five years'; by reason of the authority over them given to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the new railway law; that the officers of the Rock Island railway were being put upon the griddle by the Interstate Commerce Commission; that the Controller of the Currency had just decided to overhaul and revoke the authority given to certain national banks to act as reserve agents; and that President Taft was perfecting plans to employ the corporation tax as a means of obtaining effective control over all corporations.

"This is an interesting budget in itself. When there is added to it the revision of the tariff and several other proposed measures to regulate business, it is evident that Wall Street and those who conduct the big corporations will find the next few years sufficiently full of agitation to approach even the high ideals of our strenuous ex-President.

"The old school of laissez faire in politics and economics is practically being put out of business by the exigencies of modern politics. It is hardly possible that its policy should be revived, even under a democratic administration. Whether we like it or not, it is probable that the next dozen years will witness persistent pressure and agitation before the people and in congress on the subjects of further restriction upon the issues of railway securities; supervision by the federal government of all important corporations; revision of the tariff, either piecemeal, or as a whole; reform of the currency; and perhaps even, through the corporation tax law or otherwise, federal control of operations on the stock exchanges.

"Ex-President Roosevelt has, almost for the first time, taken the bit in his teeth on the question whether these reforms should be accomplished slowly, only at immediate economic loss to the community. Heretofore, the question has been more or less avoided by the advocates of these reforms. Mr. Roosevelt faces the problem with a seriousness of determination which is only slightly tempered by his warning that his followers must not invoke absolute economic ruin. His position is, in a sense, logical, from his point of view; and it is to be feared, from the standpoint of financial tranquility, that other parties and other leaders will endeavor to outbid him, rather than take a resolute stand against him."

"That the next congress as well as many state legislatures, will be radical in the extreme is not a debatable question, and that capital will be more or less disturbed is equally certain.

"The nation has been traveling at a rapid pace and it may be time to put on the brakes. If this can be done without demoralizing business and flooding the country with an army of enforced idlers it may result in good, but confidence is easily destroyed, and capital exceedingly timid.

believe in a free gospel, but many of them will have to do their shouting without a preacher, as the supply is not equal to the demand.

The validity of the bridge question is not important enough to warrant delay. The overwhelming majority in favor, represents public sentiment and public spirit, which would only be emphasized and made stronger by resubmitting. The people are waking up.

No other man but Roosevelt could disappoint the citizens of Janesville by passing through the city ahead of scheduled time, without exciting indignation, and no other man could have taken the Hamilton club by the throat, without resentment, but the King can do no wrong.

The difference between Lorimer of Illinois and Cox of Ohio is not discernible to the average mortal, as both are supposed to be tarred with the same brush. Why exclude one and banquet with the other?

In justice to President Taft it might be well to remember that he is still the President, however distasteful the reminder may be.

Janesville will soon be given an opportunity to boost to a purpose. Let every man be ready to lend a hand.

If insurgency is "exceeding the speed limit," then a good many people are traveling ahead of time.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE WAY TO MAKE MEN.

Three years ago Dr. Macklin, an American missionary to China, returned to this country, bringing with him his two sons, aged fifteen and seventeen.

Dr. Macklin wanted to educate these boys in an agricultural and mechanical school where they could work their own way.

He took them to Ames, Ia., where the state agricultural school is located. Then he bought a cow, a couple of shovels and hoes and a huckaw.

As he left his two sons to return to China he said to them:

"My boys, I am leaving you with this cow and these implements. I am a poor man, and I can buy you nothing more. If you will take good care of the cow and use the tools mornings and evenings and during vacation you will be able to pay your way through school."

He added significantly:

"If you do not care enough for an education to work for it and sacrifice for it you would better not try. I have done my best. You must work out your own careers."

The sequel?

Today these boys, aged eighteen and twenty, are still in school. They have paid every item of their expenses, maintaining themselves by their gardening, etc., and by the aid of the cow. And they still have the cow.

More than that—

They have bought and paid for the land they had rented for garden truck! The boys rank up with the best in their classes. They are fine, healthy, independent young fellows and are respected by all.

Dr. Macklin was wise.

Had he possessed a mint of money he could not have done better for the boys. He threw them upon their own resources, and the struggles they made developed in them the fiber of manhood.

Fortunately for the boys, their father was poor.

Had Dr. Macklin been financially able to send his sons regular remittances he would have deprived them of the inspiration that comes from overcoming obstacles and the joys of success that come through sacrifice.

Too many of us are anxious to save our boys from the hardships that make us what we are. The anxiety is natural, but the policy is wrong.

When we have given the boy good health and good training in uprightness all he needs—if he is a worth while boy—is a chance.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

My shack is rather poor and humble but on its roof the sunshine plays, and in the yard the glad bees humble, and birds are singing rag-time lays;

My hours are long, my work is grinding, I journey homeward tired and sore, but happy, for I'm sure of finding a face that's sunny at the door. I suffer under slogging and arrow the whole day long, and I grow sad; encounter people mean and narrow, and much that's wearisome and bad; but in the growing dusk I wander, my worries o'er, to that small cottage over yonder, and one who loves me at the door. The man who labors in the ditches, at heaving rock or plying beam, should heedless be of worldly riches, if some one loves him in his home. When warnings from the evening bell come that day is done, his labors o'er, how sweet it is to meet a welcome from one who loves you, at the door!

In Memory of Gutenberg.

A literary memorial to the memory of Gutenberg, the founder of the printing industry, is about to be published, after ten years of strenuous labor on the part of the artistic, scientific and publishing industries of Germany. It takes the form of a new edition of the so-called forty-two line Gutenberg edition of the Bible. This work is still not only one of the greatest monuments of the printer's art, but also marks the close of the first period of the Gutenberg era. Gutenberg's forty-two line Bible contains nearly 1,300 pages, some hundred of which are decorated in miniatures in color and gold.

A Hongkong Brewery.

A number of attempts have been made in Hongkong to establish a brewery, but the first successful one is the Oriental brewery, which commenced operations early in 1909. The buildings are extensive and the brewery installation is of the most modern American type, having a capacity of 100,000 barrels of beer a year. American capital is understood to be back of the enterprise, which is already successfully competing with the Japanese and Tientsin beers.

Prompt Treatment for Colds.

A child's cold should be treated directly it makes an appearance, and in this way it will be prevented very often from becoming really bad. Give the little one a hot bath, dry him quickly and put him into bed, and then let him have some hot milk to sip. See that he does not throw the bed clothes off while he is perspiring after this treatment. Rub his chest and back with camphorated oil in the morning and at night.

Why He Sat Down.

At a men's party the pastor cautioned his parishioners against looking at other men's wives, and offered a silk hat to the man who would stand up and say that he had not so offended. One of the confiding kind of husbands, when he got home was innocently telling his wife about it when she interrupted: "Of course, John, you got right up." John apparently had not anticipated a personal application, but he answered glibly: "Of course not, Mary, you know how punky I look in a silk hat."—Puck.

ASHFORD MORTON WAS BADLY HURT BY C. & N. W. TRAIN

Left Hand and Foot of Monroe Man Crushed When He Fell Under Fast Train Last Night.

Ashford Morton of Monroe, aged fifty-two, was badly injured last night about half past nine when he attempted to board a train or was struck by one at the North-Western passenger station. His left hand and left foot were crushed and mangled, the former so seriously that it was necessary to amputate all but the thumb and first finger together with a portion of the palm, but it is thought that his foot can be saved.

According to reports, Morton had spent the afternoon and early evening in this city and had made his way to the station to leave town. Train conductors were the only eyewitnesses to the accident, which happened. It is believed, however, that Morton attempted to board the North-Western train which passed through here at 9:20, lost his hold on the handles and was thrown under the train. He was able to walk to the police station but collapsed before medical assistance arrived. Later he was taken to the Monroe hospital where Drs. Wood and Chas. Sutherland amputated part of his left hand and dressed his other injuries. It is reported that he is resting easily today. A daughter, who lives in Monroe, arrived today and arrangements will be made to take him to Monroe as soon as possible.

STREET GETS LIMIT FOR PETIT LARCENY

Farmer Pleads Guilty to Charge of Stealing Property of W. J. McCord and is Fined $100 and Costs.

One hundred dollars and costs or six months in jail, the legal limit for petty larceny, was the sentence meted out to Oliver Street, the farmer accused of stealing live stock and feed from W. J. McCord who resides near Whitewater. The case was tried in municipal court this morning and Street, with commendable discretion, decided to plead guilty. Had the goods stolen been valued at fifty cents more, or $20, Street would have faced a term in the state penitentiary. He had no money to pay his fine and went to jail. His step sons, both of whom accompanied him on his thieving trips, are serving ninety day sentences in the Elkhorn jail.

Frank Millard, who was released on bail on the same charge, but who paid a fine of $10 and costs Friday for stealing corn from Warren Hinkell, was released after an investigation had been made. It was ascertained that he had not accompanied Street except on that one occasion.

The concern is being promoted by Mr. Lyke personally and he will have charge of the entire work. Electric motors will furnish the power. The plant will be operated on a modest scale at the outset but it is believed that the product will meet with a ready sale.

CERTIFICATES AND CASH UNDER BED

Late Christ T. Wick, Norwegian Who Died at County Farm, Left Nearly $1,000.

Cash and evidences amounting to over $857, property of the late Christ T. Wick who succumbed to spinal meningitis at the county hospital on Sept. 3, came to light at the Palmer Memorial Mercy hospital Saturday noon when the head nurse undertook to fumigate the bed which he had occupied for two days prior to becoming a county charge. Certificates of deposit for over $200 in a Harvard, Ill. bank; a credit of over $600 in a state bank of Chicago; and $87 were found in a little box underneath the mattress. The hospital authorities promptly consulted with Attorney W. H. Dougherty and through his efforts the matter was brought to the attention of Judge Sale and a public administrator will be appointed. Wick represented to the hospital authorities and to Dr. Mann that he had only $5. Foreman F. Franzen under whom he worked on the new C. & N. W. turntable, was convinced that he had property and made an effort to get into communication with relatives supposed to be living in Story City or Roland, Ia., at the same time giving directions that the man be buried in the local cemetery.

ATTENDANCE AT THE HIGH-SCHOOL LARGEST IN YEARS

Over Four Hundred Pupils Now Enrolled Promising a Record Attendance For This Year.

With about four hundred and fifteen pupils in attendance at the high school, this year is almost a record year for the attendance at the opening week of school. Not in many years has the number been so large and it is expected that more will be added to the enrollment later, though some will be sifted out later, a few returning to the grades and others dropping out. At present it has been a question how to seat the pupils and extra seats have been brought from the Lincoln school building to furnish seats for all. The assignment of seats was made today.

A temporary arrangement has been made at the Adams school building whereby Miss Enright takes charge of the seventh grade, and Miss Catherine Lane assumes Miss Enright's work in the fifth grade during the absence of Miss Younghouse, who is ill. Mrs. L. F. Rahr has been supplying temporarily for Miss Younghouse. At the Jefferson school Miss Willson of Elgerston will have charge of the kindergarten work in the place of Miss Jacobs, resigned. Miss Eretta Kimball is taking Miss Henderson's place in the first grade at Adams school. Prof. D. D. Manross, instructor in the commercial department at the high school was absent today on account of sickness and only a part of his classes recited. Miss Elizabeth McCue, the clerk, teaching the bookkeeping classes.

SPLENDID CONCERTS BY NAVASSAR BAND

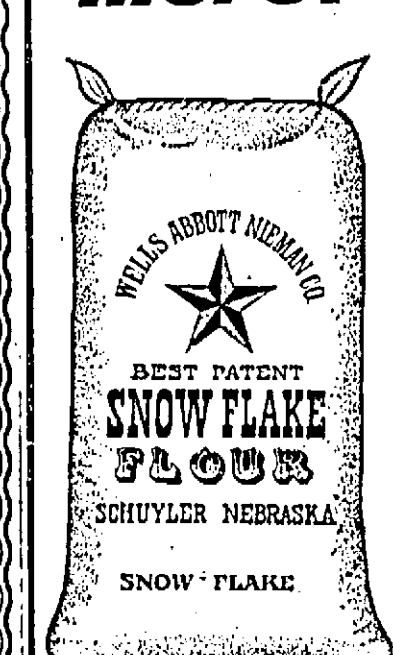

Delighted Good Sized Audiences at the Myers Theatre Yesterday Afternoon and Evening.

A delightful surprise was in store for those who attended the Myers theatre Sunday afternoon and evening. The Navassar band composed of forty ladies more than fulfilled all expectations. Somehow or other the word had been passed around Saturday that one could go to this ladies' band and that they would make good. They did too, and in a big way. Everyone was delighted. The afternoon program consisted of eight numbers and every one was fully appreciated. "The Glow Worm" with handsome electric effects, representing the fireflies was a novelty, and the tenor solo by Miss Gilda MacCoy was a treat. The saxophone solos were also well received. The "Avali Chorus" was rendered with exceptionally beautiful scenic effects, showing the red glow of the blacksmith's furnace and real live sparks and lurid flashes every time the hammers hit. Other good numbers were the quartette in selections and the life solo, the "Stars and Stripes." Not to be forgotten was the excellent solo by Miss Gilda MacCoy, whose strong contralto voice was a delight.

The band left this morning for the Milwaukee state fair and it is probable that it will play a return engagement within a short time.

LAST PICNIC OF THE SUMMER CLUB

Of Household Economics Was Held in Footville Friday—Interesting Paper and Reports Read.

The Summer Club of Household Economics held their last picnic of the season at Footville on Friday. About 135 ladies sat down to a sumptuous dinner served by the ladies of the Christian church in their beautiful new church parlors. The meeting was called to order at 1 p. m. by the president, Mrs. W. B. Davis, in the chair. Reports were given by the treasurer, Miss Kink, and by Mrs. J. Day for the philanthropic committee. Mrs. T. C. Richardson of Evansville read a paper on "The Cost of Living." The Mesdames Rahr, De Forest, Otis and Swan gave helpful suggestions.

The High Handshake.

He put his hand on a level with the lady's chin. Reaching her own up, she said with a laugh:
"It is easy to see you have been in the Philippines for some years, else you would know, my friend, that the high-action handshake, is no more."
He flushed and bit his lip.
"But aren't you glad?" said she.
"It was a silly thing, that high-action handshake. My cousin, the marchioness of Granby, told me how it originated. It originated in a ball under King Edward's arm. He had a hot there for some weeks. Hence he shook hands high up in the air. And the world thought, it was a new fashion."

Air.

Air seems to spoil easily. Air traveling through shafts and special air chambers, in fact, air going through anything that cuts it off from the ocean of atmosphere, loses some of its indescribable vitalizing qualities and is liable to cause weariness and a feeling of depression to those who habitually breathe in artificially ventilated houses. Scientific examination may show such air absolutely pure, but all the same it is poor stuff to take into the lungs. This also explains the real rock bottom difference between town and country air. Highly artificial food and highly artificial air, no matter how good they seem, are not the real stuffs themselves.

STOP KILLING OF ELEPHANTS

Friends of Pachyderm in England and France Urge Reserves to Halt Extinction.

London.—Whether it be the outcome of Mr. Roosevelt's recent hunting trip in Africa or not, a meeting held by the French society known as "The Friends of the Elephant," at which it was decided to approach the French government with the object of securing better reserves for elephants in Africa, has had the effect of reviving some interest in the same matter among members of the sister society in London.

Mont. Col. John Henry Patterson, one of the most active members of the society, said in an interview: "In the United Kingdom this question has been ably and zealously dealt with by the Society for the Preservation of the Wild Fauna of the Empire."

"The objects of the association are to create a sound public opinion on the subject of the preservation of wild life, both at home and in the colonies and British dependencies; to further the formation of game reserves and sanctuaries, the selection of the most suitable places for these sanctuaries and the enforcing of suitable game laws and regulations."

"The society devotes considerable attention to the preservation of elephants, and has sent many deputations on the subject to successive foreign and colonial secretaries. Elephant reserves at present exist in all our African colonies where those animals are found. In British Camble no elephants are allowed to be killed, and it is hoped that similar sanctuary will, owing to the efforts of the French society, be extended to the elephants in the French West African possessions."

"For the year ended March, 1908, 559 tons of ivory, worth $2,802,750, were imported into the United Kingdom alone. Taking the average tusk to weigh 40 pounds (a very liberal estimate), this means the death of more than fifteen thousand elephants. The ivory was practically all African, the quantity from India being only of the value of $175,000. If this animal slaughter is allowed to continue we are, almost already in sight of the extinction of the African elephant, but it is hoped that the efforts of the British and French societies will stir public opinion and prevent such a deplorable loss to the fauna of the world."

DAILY DIET AND
HEALTH HINTSBy DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist"LIME IN THE BONES OF THE BOSS."

"Lime in the bones of the boss" is a phrase used by Elbert Hubbard in stating the common causes of failure of business enterprises. Old bones contain an excess percentage of lime because they are short in other elements, not supplied in the food, or because the nutritive processes are failing. Efficiency depends upon nutrition, and so Mr. Hubbard's expression is a most suggestive one. Bricks can be made without straw, but bones without lime would not be bones. Calcium is the largest mineral element, except potassium, in all foods, including milk, which must contain it for building the bone of the growing young. Probably calcium is important in the process of supplying oxygen to the cells. Chlorine and calcium combine very readily, liberating oxygen. Fino white bread contains as much lime as the whole wheat, a larger percentage, in fact, but it contains no chlorine—and common salt does not give up its chlorine, being mineral, for it can be recovered after passing through the body.

True Road to Happiness.

Whenever unselfish love is the mainspring of men's actions; wherever happiness is placed not on what we can get for ourselves, but on what we can impart to others; wherever we place out-satisfaction in gratifying our fathers and mothers, our brothers and sisters, our wives and children, our neighbors and friends, we are sure to attain all the happiness which the world can bestow.

Our War.

The war we wage must be waged against misconduct, against wrongdoing wherever it is found; and we must stand heartily for the rights of every decent man, whether he be a man of great wealth or a man who earns a livelihood as a wage worker or a tiller of the soil.—Theodore Roosevelt.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THAT great advances are being made every year in the science of child training is an undeniable fact, but there is one change in method that I regret. And that is the decrease of things to be learned by heart.

How much poetry does your child learn by heart at school today? Very little, I fancy. If his teacher has the modern point of view. He studies and reads, and listens to explanations and stories and illustrations, but he seldom learns by heart.

And I think it's a big mistake. Of all our childhood's educational advantages that we didn't appreciate and maybe fought against at the time, I think most of us of the older generation—the generation that emphasizes learning by heart—will admit that one of the greatest advantages was being forced to incorporate into our mental system so much of the beautiful things in our literature.

Much of what we learned we didn't understand at the time, of course. It was just a string of words and phrases. Or if we did understand it mentally, we didn't appreciate it. And then we lived, and every phrase of life translated some of that poetry for us.

Every great experience, every sorrow or suffering or joy illumined some line to us. Who hasn't had the experience of recalling some piece of poetry that he learned years and years ago, and for the first time really understanding it?

And I think it's a shame that our children aren't carrying away from their schooling, a similar fund of unrecognition treasure.

Seems to me when the school fails to give them this it's up to us to try to make up the lack.

In our neighborhood there is one mother who believes as I do about this, and who dedicates a part of every Sunday afternoon to filling in this gap for her four youngsters.

She doesn't try to teach them much—not more than ten or twelve lines of poetry or half a dozen verses of the Bible every week. But she spends much time in making the selection from the whole range of literature and the best in the Bible.

She explains the selection and then turns the children loose to learn it. Some dainty or some especial privilege is the reward of the one who is first ready to recite it.

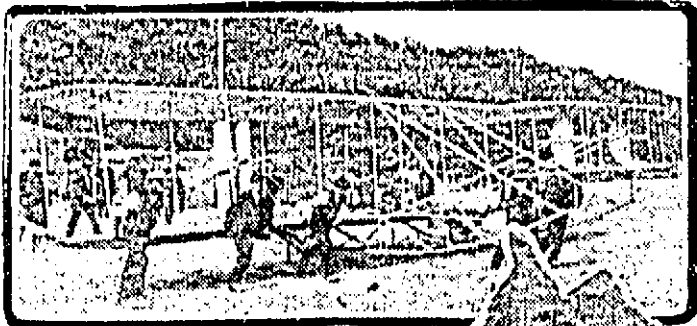

In order to fix the selections more firmly in their minds, she frequently reviews them from Sunday to Sunday, or calls on the children to recite them at the supper table or just before bedtime. And it is a matter of great pride with them to be able to recite correctly.

Of course twelve lines isn't much, but twelve lines a week is 624 a year, and all these from the very refined gold of our literature is a mental treasure not to be despised.

Does the plan appeal to you as worth trying?

I hope so.

"Altho' it's God's medicine, everybody ought to bathe in it. Grim care, moroseness, anxiety—all the rust of life—ought to be secured off by the oil of mirth."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

TO COMPETE FOR AVIATION PRIZE.

Miss Emily T. Willard and a Wright machine in which she will fly.

Boston, Mass.—There is going to be one American woman aviator at the Boston-Harvard aviation meet—Miss Emily T. Willard, of Melrose, sister of Charles F. Willard, one of the most daring pupils of the Wrights—and it is possible that she will try for the biggest prize, including the $10,000 cash prize for a flight from Soldiers' field to Boston light and return. The determination of Miss Willard to enter these contests has been definitely reached, and she has the consent of her brother to make the attempt.

AS A MAN SPEAKETH.

(By MARY RUSSELL.)
The tones of the speaking voice are more important to happiness than we think. We recognize the dominating quality of a speaker's character without looking at her, by her tone in which she speaks. We know, without any explanation, how the relations between child and parent have become strained, when we listen to the voice in which the mother or father habitually speaks to the child.

The woman who has a sorrowful cadence, running through her tones will bring up a brood of whiners.

The loud voice woman will head a flock of cowering children. The scold, or tempest, will send a devastating group of male or female scolds on an unappealing world.

The woman who is artificial in her daily life will make her children artificial.

It were well to stop and think whether your aspirations and hopes are being held back by your own voice as much as anything, or whether you are lending the aid of a sweet, well modulated and cheerful voice to your efforts.

Have you not heard a fresh, hearty, wholesome tone in a crowd that brought the speaker before your mental vision as plainly as if you were standing face to face, and grasping what you well know would be a cordial, earnest, strong hand?

The woman who whines thinks she is pathetic—and she is in one sense. She is a blight on any home and should be suppressed by the S. P. C. for she can work more cruelly upon innocent and helpless children than the vicious female. Her children will inevitably make any request in a whining tone. When you detect the implicit cadence in your child's voice stand the child straight up—make it take a deep breath with shoulders well thrown back—insure the child that things may not be so bad as they seem, and ask a repetition of the request. Ten to one the cheerful note which indicates a joy in life will be apparent. Then, if possible, grant the request and remark upon the ease with which you hear cheerful voices. Become deaf to the other kind if you wish for your own happiness, the happiness of the child and a general lifting of the atmosphere where you both dwell.

The habit of speaking to children in loud and peremptory tones of command is as detrimental to a child's morals as to his happiness.

"If my mother spoke to me like that," said a young girl, speaking of a mutual friend, "I would keep as much away from her as I could. It would make me want to do exactly what she told me not to do."

Orders when requests would be better, commands when suggestions would do as well, whining, self-pity when a cheerful demand of rights are necessary, all these are pitfalls for the unwary. Half of them are either due to the tones of the voice habitually used as much as to any one cause.

Speak cheerfully even when talking of troubles. It will help you to feel cheerful.

Speak gently even when disturbed—it will aid you to attain serenity.

Be firm rather than loud, gentle rather than sad, pleasant rather than with the quarrelsome note which is like a blow in the face.

Stop and consider your own method and see where you need to make a change. The trouble with reading advice is that we usually apply it to our neighbors when we need it ourselves.

Virtue of Conqueror.
Humanity always becomes a conqueror.—Sheridan.

The best kind of a fannel for a fomentation is a piece of soft old blanket, old flannel answering better than new. Remember always to dry the patient's skin carefully after removing one fomentation and before putting on the next.

A cooked potato is excellent as a means of cleaning and whitening the hands. The potato should be cut in half and rubbed over the backs and fingers after they have been soaked for a minute or two in warm water. Potato should be used in this manner instead of soap.

If the hands should have become much stained with ink they should be rubbed with lemon juice. Should this fail to remove the stains a good plan is that of adding a little pearl ash to water and dipping the hands in the solution, rubbing them well with a piece of flannel until the marks have disappeared. Care must be taken to avoid washing them with soap for some time afterward or the spots will reappear.

A good toilet water for summer use can be made at home of an ounce of glycerin, 15 ounces of orange-flower water and a quarter of an ounce of powdered borax. This is simply mixed by pouring the ingredients into a bottle so that it is only three parts full, and then shaking it well. A little applied to the face and hands will prevent a shaly appearance in hot weather and will not injure the pores like powder.

Crocheted Whip for Baby.

Girls who can crochet or knit will find a whip made of this handwork an attractive gift for a baby. The innermost part is a soft whip. This is wound around with cotton batting, and then bound with a cord so that it is securely covered. Then a case for it is crocheted or knit and put on with a tassel to finish the pointed end, securely fastened on so that if the child tries to put the whip in somebody's eyes it will not do any more harm than a soft handkerchief. Bells are fastened on the whip part way up, and on the handle end there is a loop. The whip must be so soft every-where that it cannot possibly do any harm. It may be given separately or with a set of crocheted or knitted toys.

BOXES FOR THE BRIDE'S CAKE

Come in All Shapes and Sizes, and Practically at Any Cost to Suit.

The statement that it is not what is done, but how it is done, that counts, verges on the trite; but it is particularly applicable in the little things that contribute toward a pleasant time for wedding guests.

A wedding cake is no longer kept for weeks and weeks; it is cut into little pieces and sent or presented to the guests and friends of the happy pair. Just how to give this in an attractive form is sometimes a question that clamors for its answer in the rush of the last few days.

Boxes can now be purchased at stationery departments of any large store and the necessities are within the reach of the majority of brides.

There is a charming little circular box that looks like a miniature wedding cake. When tied with white ribbon or with the alien cords that reflect the color scheme of the decorations it is well worth having. The ends of the bow are gathered into the tops of tiny silver bells.

Perhaps the heart-shaped box of white is more appropriate. This should hold a heart-shaped piece of cake, and the top of the box should be tied down with broad ribbon, fastened under a posette. Square boxes are always good. The addition of a card with the best wishes of the bride and bridegroom is a little personal touch that is well worth while. Through the knot of ribbon a spray of asparagus fern can be slipped. It lasts for weeks and gives the freshness that is desirable, especially for boxes that are to be sent away through the mail.

To the friends who are present there can easily be given a spray of leaves with a blossom from the decoration of the table or rooms.

Tied with a gold or silver cord, a long, narrow box will hold a fresh spray of flowers. People like to carry with them some part of the festivities. The mania for souvenirs still prevails.

Of course, the custom of having the cake cut by the bride herself can be easily observed.

For during the reception following the small pieces can be boxed and tied by a special committee of friends and distributed to the guests before their departure.

As to the dreams that may come when the fair recipients sleep with the bride's cake beneath their pillows, who can tell whether they can vie with the pleasure of receiving it in so charming a form?

Politeness a Valuable Asset.

The more exalted a man is by station, the more powerful should he be by kindness. There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. Politeness is most useful to inspire confidence in the timid and encourage the deservingly.—Mingon.

Dangerous City "Playgrounds."

New York city streets make dangerous playgrounds, but they are the only ones that thousands of little people have. Not a day passes without injury to children by vehicles, and about nine are killed each month.

Reclamation.

Because some one else has borrowed your pet book that you have hardly had time to read yourself, and then has shown her generous spirit by lending it to a friend of her own, who has passed it further, so that by the time it gets back to you it has lost the first sweet freshness that helped make it dear to you, is really no reason why you should borrow your friend's best cut glass dish and send it back to her with a crack in it or a chip out of it.—Woman's Life.

Man—What? You are engaged to marry me, after all?
Lady—Not after all, dearie. But after, Brown, maybe!

Weather Forecast.
"I do not think," says Edmund Yates in his book, "Recollections and Experiences," "I ever met a man more hopelessly deaf than Charles Kumble at seventy. Some of us were sitting one afternoon at the Garlick club, when a tremendous thunder storm broke over the house.
"It raged with extraordinary fury, one clap exploding with terrific noise immediately above us like a volley of artillery.
"We looked round at each other almost in horror, when Charles Kumble, who was calmly reading, lifted his eyes from his book and said, in his trumpet tone: 'I think we are going to have some thunder; I feel it in my knees.'"

Harry Steininger of Monroe and Two Men Near Death When Engine Went Through Bridge.

Monroe, Wis., Sept. 12.—Henry Steininger of this city and two men who were with him on a traction engine, narrowly escaped death when his engine went through a bridge west of Juda near the old John Chadwick place. As the engine crashed through the bridge down below, a distance of twelve feet, the men all jumped and were not hurt otherwise than receiving a few minor bruises. The engine and tank are both in the water at the bridge one mile west of Juda and the road has had to be closed to traffic. Mr. Steininger was on his way to Monroe with his threshing outfit and a separator which he had purchased at Juda, when the accident happened.

Democratic Candidate for Chief Executive of Tennessee Withdraws.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 12.—Explaining his action in a scorching statement, Gov. Malcolm R. Patterson withdrew his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee, furnishing a sensational climax to a long and bitter preliminary campaign.

The governor has already served two terms in office and had announced his candidacy for a third term in compliance with the wishes of the state committee, which declared him the Democratic nominee without opposition. Those opposed to the governor declined to enter a primary, preferring to submit the matter to a convention, and the governor, in order to avert the threatening split, withdrew in the interest of harmony.

BANK EXAMINERS ARE DECLARED LAX

COMPTROLLER MURRAY PLACES BLAME UPON THEM FOR BANK FAILURES.

INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE

If Findings Had Been Reported in Time Corrections Could Have Averted Wrecks—Incompetents Are to Be Weeded Out.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Following the shifting of twenty bank examiners to new districts, Comptroller of the Currency Murray announces he is about to make a personal inquiry into the conditions of the various examination districts.

In deciding upon this course of action, the controller in a statement addressed to examiners, said: "In almost every case of a national bank failure since I have been controller the insolvency could have been averted had the national bank examiner determined the true condition and reported his findings in time for me to force a correction in the administration of the bank's affairs."

Directors' Duty to Meet Examiner. After citing that examiners of failed banks had offered excuses that they had been unable to learn in advance of a bank's true condition, that of examiners and directors of banks would not correct conditions brought to their attention, or any one of another dozen reasons, Mr. Murray in his statement says:

"Many of the examiners state in their reports of examinations, forwarded to the controller's office, that it is a hardship not only on the examiner, but upon many of the members of the directory of country banks, to ask the various boards to meet with the examiner during the progress or at the close of the examination.

To Weed Out Incompetents. "This investigation by the controller and his chief of the division of reports is also an investigation into the methods employed by every national bank examiner, and upon seeing them make an examination of several banks and afterward holding a meeting of the directors, he will be able to determine who of his examining force, if any, are inefficient."

BLOCK CONVICTS ESCAPE PLOT.

Get Fire to Warehouse, Guards Prevent Them Gaining Liberty.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—A plot to effect an escape from the Illinois state prison here while the guards and other officials were fighting a fire of incendiary origin in the prison yard was thwarted by Warden Murphy.

Thirty-five convicts, employed about the prison, found that the vigilance of the guard was undiminished, in spite of the excitement within the prison inclosure, and, fearing they would be shot down in the break for liberty, made no effort to escape.

A brick warehouse in the prison yard was nearly destroyed by flames, supposed to have been set by some of the thirty-five men at liberty in the yard at the time.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Sept. 12, 1870.—Jottings.—The prospects for an entertaining exhibition and a large attendance of people at the Southern Wisconsin Fair, which is to be held in this city next week, are better than ever before. There is every indication of favorable weather, and all classes of citizens are interesting themselves in this annual gathering of the agricultural and industrial products of the country. So we may expect that the efforts of the society may this year be rewarded with unusual success.

Mr. St. Sholler has sold his grocery establishment to Mr. W. H. Cheesbrough of Emerald Grove.

The digging down of the Milwaukee road is in progress against the petition of the property holders on the road. The contract for the work was

THEATER

"Baby Mine" Tonight.

"Baby Mine" which will be offered here for the first time tonight at the Myers theatre by William A. Brady (Limited), has been the surprise of the theatrical year, in more ways than one. First, it was the biggest hit a farce comedy ever made in Chicago, although produced there last spring, after all the theatres had about decided to close down for the warm weather and after no fewer than six farces with a record of New York City hits had failed there.

Second, it was produced by Mr. Brady after seven other producing managers had turned it down as impossible.

Third, it was the work of Margaret Mayo, an author of clever plays, among them "Polly of the Circus," but one who it had always been said had no sense of humor. Yet, the play is said to be the funniest by far ever produced in this country.

Fourth, Otis Harlan will play here his original role of Jimmy Jinks. "Baby Mine" has inaugurated at Daly's theatre in New York, what promises to be a record breaking run.

"Uncle Tom" Tomorrow.

There are many versions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" now being forced upon the public under omnibus covers, which are detrimental to the greatest degree. They are usually short-lived for the people of today are not to be hoodwinked as easily as those of not so many years ago. It is a known fact that Al. W. Martin possesses the original version of Mrs. Stowe's story and that it has been unanimously accepted by the press, public and public of America and England. The Martin revival will be brought to the Myers theatre, Tuesday, Sept. 13, with a special matinee at 4:00 p. m.

St. Elmo.

Announcement that "St. Elmo," that wonderfully interesting romance, beloved by grandmother, mother and daughter, to say nothing of the church warden, for many of the sterner sex would they only admit it, is booked for the Myers theatre next Wednesday, matinee and evening, comes as the best news of many a day to countless people. "St. Elmo" was written many years ago but not until the coincident death of its author and the expiration of the copyright was an adequate stage version possible. Fascinated by the dramatic qualities of the famous novel, Miss Grace Hayward, herself an actress from early girlhood and whose dramatization of "Graumark" has pleased thousands, set to work to make a stage story of Mrs. Wilson's wonderful story. That she has succeeded in building a cohesive, thrilling play, teeming with heart interest and with all the dramatic unities preserved in threading the stirring incidents which fill the chapters, is the testimony of thousands who had the good fortune to witness the first production. So spontaneous was the public verdict that a special company has been organized and is now entering on a tour which promises to mark an epoch in the history of dramatized novels.

While the contest for governor is first in interest, it has no great margin over that for congress in two of the districts. For the first time in years, Republican leaders have been called upon to fight stiffly in the first and second districts, which gave Reed and Dingley overwhelming majorities, election after election.

In the first district Asher C. Hinds of Portland, who sat behind half a dozen congressional speakers as a parliamentarian, is battling against William Pennell of Brunswick, a former sheriff of Cumberland county. In the second district Congressman John C. Sway of Canton is fighting for a second term against Daniel P. McMillan of Lewiston.

Both sides claim to have made a winning fight, but close political observers believe that Sway's success is more doubtful than that of Hinds.

COL. ISAAC L. ELLWOOD EXPIRES.

Barb Wire King Stricken by Fatal Paralysis at DeKalb.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Col. Isaac L. Ellwood, one of the most prominent figures in the life of Illinois since the early '70s and the richest man in Illinois, died Sunday night at his residence in De Kalb, Ill., after an illness of more than two months.

Since the death of his wife nine weeks ago Colonel Ellwood had been sinking rapidly and physicians at no time have even hoped for his recovery. The illness from which he was suffering was of a paralytic nature and attacked him a few days after the funeral of Mrs. Ellwood.

Colonel Ellwood was a pioneer manufacturer of barbed wire fencing, and to the expansion of that industry with the subdivision of the great ranches of the west into farms, he owes his fortune. Added to his wealth and his industrial activity, Colonel Ellwood became one of the best known men in the state through his political and financial affiliations.
